Sharon Folkerts Reigns As Queen

Don't Do Anything—Just Sit

When Lewis Carroll's Walrus said, "It's time to talk of many things," he didn't refer to student lethargy. But the time has come to talk of it.

Why are college students so utterly unenthusiastic about anything which doesn't pay off in immediate materialistic rewards? Why is there such an unwillingness for any person to take on any job of responsibility? How is it that organization after organization has such a difficult job trying to get members who are willing to work?

That's the problem facing the Wartburg campus. But it is more than a local problem. College after college reports the utter indifference of students to any and every thing. And the sad thing remains is that this problem is not confined to the environs of the college communities. It is a problem national in scope, affecting every community, club, civic group and church.

People are joiners but they are not workers.

However, let's stick to the campus level.

Why is it that this paper has trouble recruiting editorial personnel? Why is it that the radio station has trouble finding enough competent people? Why does Wartburg Players have trouble presenting plays? Why? Why? Why?

Unfortunately there isn't one precise clear reason. For one thing, it's the materialistic age in which we dwell. Unless someone gets paid for something, he won't do it. Why spend hours and hours each week working where he doesn't get paid?

And there's the standard alibi of having to study. With the ever-increasing academic standards, this may be partially valid. But quite often some of the most active students are also pulling some of the top grades.

And finally there's the basic question of laziness and undergraduate procrastination. People don't want to work when it's so much easier merely to sit around.

But the fact remains — lethargy is omnipresent here and elsewhere. And if the basic attitude of the Student Body doesn't change and change fast, student activities will die. And if these activities perish, the life of the college will too.

What do you think? Next week the editorial page will be devoted to an open forum on this subject. All readers having ideas and opinions on this topic are invited to submit their opinions. Letters must be signed, although names will be withheld on request.

I have been quoted by the Cotta House Homecoming Committee. I like the idea of being thrown into the fishpond, mainly because after all my efforts, I have been unable to get Asiatic flu. So I have decided to hold out for double pneumonia. I don't know why I shouldn't be entitled to get sick — about 99 and 44/100 per cent of the Kastle Kapers cast did.

It's just a thought. Maybe if everybody spent as much time on his studies as he has on Homecoming this week, the college would be crawling with four-pointers.

But then, studies aren't so much fun as staying up till two in the morning building a float or polishing the Knight armor for the parade or heating your brains out on the football practice field or building a palm tree for Kastle Kapers.

Has it ever struck you how mawkish and downright pagan a Homecoming is? The football game reminds one of a Roman gladiatorial fight. Cheering with a bunch of uniformed leaders looks like a tribal chant to assure a good hunt.

The parade bears some resemblance of a pageant to the pagan gods. The bonfire pep rally speaks for itself.

And amidst it all, alumni are lamenting over the good old days that are gone forever.

When it's all over, you lean back and relax only for a moment before you realize that there has been some vicious plot to plan midsemester examinations the week after.

This is my third year writing this column, and each time around Homecoming I slip in some nice little sentiments about the whole fiasco. It will be a great wonder if this week's copy ever reaches the press. But if it does, I just sit back and wonder . . .

IS IT WORTH IT?

FOOTNOTES TO FAITH

Pathways To Peace Fine Goal? Well, Maybe, But Let's Look

By Ken Schroeder

This week the Wartburg Homecoming theme directs our thoughts to "Pathways to Peace." The word "pathways" means plan or course of action. Therefore, our Homecoming theme is urging us to take a course of action that will lead to a final peace, where all men can live together in harmony and happiness.

This is truly a fine goal to aim for, but a statement of this kind immediately begs the question: What pathway are we following at the present time?

We, as a nation, are encouraging our leaders to use every means possible to initiate and maintain a lasting peace. But just what specific means are we using to accomplish peace?

First, we are using all the diplomatic channels at our disposal to try to mediate international problems before they turn into armed aggression. Secondly, we are making alliances with friendly nations to insure our common defense.

Thirdly, our government has made the assumption that a good offense is the best defense. We are stockpiling weapons in order that, in the event of an enemy attack, we could deal a retaliatory blow of such strength that it would knock the enemy completely out of the war.

Whether this course of action is a pathway to peace or not is a matter of opinion, but the fact of the matter is that it is the only course of action practical to our country at this time. We are forced to be ready for war at any time because of the nature of our enemy.

There can be no peaceful co-existence with the philosophy undergirding and motivating the present Communist regime, Dialectical materialism is completely incompatible with peace. The only way to deal with a system of this type is to be prepared for aggression from without and alert ourselves to the dangers of subversion from within.

Even though our nation has no alternative in its course of action, can we honestly believe that peace will ever be attained by military means? History seems to indicate that this is very unlikely if not impossible.

Be that as it may, we are still faced with the question, what pathway can we as college students take toward lasting peace?

We can make a valuable if not crucial contribution to lasting peace, both now and in the future, by helping the love of Christianity to diffuse into the hearts of all mankind. It is only when the human race learns that we are all brothers under the love of Christ, will there be a lasting peace. It is only when we learn to love our neighbors as we love ourselves and demonstrate this love in our daily lives will there be world peace.

Whether such a condition is feasible in time or whether it will be ushered in at the dawn of eternity is beyond the outlook of man. Nevertheless, the degree to which such a peace is ever achieved on this earth is dependent upon the Christian love in our hearts and the manifestation of that love by every one of us.

WHIRLED AFFAIRS

Mid-East Same — What A Mess!

By Bob Mayer

There must surely be growing doubts today in the minds of many as to the real efficacy of all best intentions to gain in the Middle East security, stability and, above all, peace. The grim pattern of crisis, first in Egypt, then in Jordan, and now in Syria must have served to point out that as always we are at best only pressuring an uneasy and fearful peace. In the unpredictable chaos of alternate hot and cold war, the grasping fingers of Russian domination seem to be closing tightly as never before.

The recent border flare-up between Syria and Turkey provided ample axes for Russian-Syrian propagandists to grind mercilessly. Krushchev, armed with new satellite and technological power and prestige, succeeded in thoroughly frightening the West by talk of all-out war. Simultaneously, he appeared as the spotless protector of Arabs and peace.

That the accusations made by the Soviets are ridiculous may appear quite obvious to us, but by bitter experience the West has learned that in the eyes of millions slander often holds poisonous water.

The Middle East has become an unprecedented and unique battleground and one upon which an unprecedented and unique battle is being fought. It is not a war of material weapons but rather a climactic conflict of ideology striving to supplant the bitter hatred which is eating at the cornerstone of Arab unity.

To our minds this must inevitably resolve solely into a struggle between communistic and democratic forms of government. But to the Arab it is essentially one for the final assertion of his inalienable individual and national rights. It is by capitalizing on these local issues that the Soviets have gained so great a measure of success.

There is currently a massive movement of upheaval in the East which we perhaps cannot fully conceive of in true perspective because we ourselves are so closely involved. This upheaval involves much more than an incident in Syria or Jordan. It is a universal reaction against all that the old stands for in exchange for the new. Propaganda has ably served the purpose of associating us with the old and the Soviet Union as something new and dynamic.

We can no longer afford blatantly to deny that this is at least to some extent quite true. To some extent we must be swept along with the tide. The force of change cannot be overcome by blind resistance.

That the Russians are well aware of this is evidenced by their success in the whole of Asia. Only disaster can await those of the West who fail to accept the import of change and so adjust their vision.

Homecoming Continues With Full Slate of Events

HC Royalty Has Sharon For Queen

By Marsha Starck

Sharon Folkerts, a hazel-eyed, brown-haired beauty with a voice known to thousands, was presented as Homecoming Queen climaxed Kastle Kapers last night.

Miss Folkerts will be crowned 1957 Homecoming Queen by Miss Irma Niederwimmer, last year's regent, between halves of today's football game with Duquesne University. She will reign over all Homecoming festivities and will be honored at a reception Sunday afternoon in Centennial Hall Lounge.

Attending Queen Sharon I will be Esther Brinkman, senior; Rosemary Dhein, Karla Edgar and Elaine Schneider, juniors. The queen and her attendants were chosen by the Wartburg Student Body during the past week.

A music education major, Sharon has been soprano soloist with the Wartburg Choir for three years. Her resonant voice emits a purity uncommon to today's women vocalists.

Champagne Music?

An audition by Lawrence Welk awaits the 5'6" monarch from Manson. Combining versatility with her many vocal appearances, Sharon is equally adept at intoning in a religious hymn with the Choir or singing a popular number in the Swing Show.

Crown Not New

Royalty is not a new experience for Sharon. Earlier honors have seen her elected Fall Sports Queen as a freshman and to the Homecoming court last fall. Twice in high school she was elected homecoming attendant.

The stately sovereign's future plans include marriage to John Chezik, Jr., a 1957 graduate of Wartburg.

Attending the queen will be one of her close college friends Esther Brinkman. The senior from Clarksville is a home economics major and is president of the Women's Athletic Association.

Home Ec Useful

Miss Brinkman will probably be putting her hobbies of sewing and cooking to good use when she becomes the bride of Nelson Bose, senior, on June 1, 1958. She was an attendant to the Fall Sports Queen in her sophomore year.

"This is my most exciting homecoming," said cute as a bunny Brinkman ("Bunny" is her nickname), "and I am so pleased to be one of Sharon's attendants."

From Appleton, Wis., Miss Dhein finds music her major interest. She is active in Wartburg Choir, Pi Sigma, MENC, WAA and has been a member of the Women's Coordinating Board and dorm council.

Queen Before

Miss Edgar is adding to her royal honors of Spring Sports Queen and Student Body Carnival Queen attained in her freshman year. From Oklahoma City, Okla., the cordial attendant lists her hobbies as swimming and dancing.

While serving as president of South Wing Centennial Hall, Karla finds time for active participation in Pi Sigma, Student Senate and dorm council. Karla's future plans also include marriage.

Everything, Everything

Listing "everything, including people, in general" as her hobby, Miss Schneider is also an active court attendant. As a freshman Elaine was one of the attendants for Winter Sports Queen. She served as a Parish Mission Builder last summer.

"I get so excited when I think about this weekend," Elaine exclaimed. "I just never thought anything like this would happen to me."

mary Dhein, QUEEN SHARON FOLKERTS and Karla Edgar. Coronation ceremonies will be this afternoon.

Packed House To Greet 'The Rivalry' As Massey, Moorehead, Gabel Star

By Bob Loslo

Drama comes to the Artist Series stage.

For the first time since the Artist Series became a reality at Wartburg, a full-fledged dramatic production will grace Knights Gymnasium with its power and impact. That production is, of course, "The Rivalry", starring Raymond Massey, Agnes Moorehead and Martin Gabel.

Dr. A. W. Swensen, Series chairman, reports that the response has surpassed his highest expectation with requests for tickets pouring in from theater-lovers and high school dramatic groups all over the state. The event promises to be one of the most financially rewarding ventures in the history of the Series.

Featured in the role of Abraham Lincoln will be Raymond Massey, who has been acclaimed for his previous interpretations of the great President of the Civil War.

Massey Plays Lincoln

The stage play "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" cannot be discussed without the synonymous mention of Massey, who breathed life into the role of Lincoln with his magnificent performances. The play lasted for two seasons in New York with Massey performing his role over a thousand times.

He ultimately left the stage and played the screen version of "Abe Lincoln in Illinois." Television had no sooner become a powerful dramatic medium than Massey was again donning the characteristic black suit to portray Lincoln—this time in "The Day Lincoln Was Shot."

When Paul Gregory decided to produce Norman Corwin's Lincoln drama, "The Rivalry," his obvious choice for the lead was Raymond Massey. There was some doubt, however, as to whether Massey would accept the part. But when the script was submitted to him, Massey once again prepared to recreate the person of Honest Abe.

Moorehead No Stranger

In the role of Adele Douglas will be Agnes Moorehead, no stranger to the stage herself. Although most of her dramatic activity consists of parts in motion pictures, Miss Moorehead has been seen in stage productions of "All the King's Men," "Soldiers and Women" and "Candlelight."

Movie-goers will remember her in "Johnny Belinda," "The Stratton Story" and "The Blue Veil," to list only a few. Miss Moorehead's latest screen part is in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's five million dollar production of "Raintree County."

Agnes Moorehead has appeared in two previous Paul Gregory productions — "Don Juan in Hell" and "That Fabulous Redhead."

"I enjoyed my parts in both of those plays immensely," says Miss Moorehead, "but my role in 'The Rivalry' is one of the highest on my long list of all-time favorites."

Gabel As Senator

Rounding out the production will be Martin Gabel as the fiery senator who defeated

Lincoln in the famous rivalry. Mr. Gabel displays talent not only in acting, but also in directing and producing. He started his acting career only a small shade more gloriously than did Raymond Massey when he had a one-line part in a stage play called "Man Bites Dog."

Gabel, who incidentally is married to a television star, Arlene Francis, has produced a Jose Ferrer-starred revival of "Charlie's Aunt" and has directed Irwin Shaw's "The Assassin."

Gabel's latest stage chore, if such a job can be called a chore, was to star with Jayne Mansfield in, "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?"

"The Rivalry" concerns the Lincoln-Douglas debates of the last century. Since the play has made endeavors to be historically accurate, Norman Corwin cannot take credit for writing all of "The Rivalry." Some of the credit has to go to two fellows called Lincoln and Douglas.

Reformation For Convos

Reformation Emphasis will be the keynote of convocations for next week.

Wartburg's Dr. Gerhard Ottersberg, Chairman of the Division of History and Political Science, will address the Student Body on Tuesday. Dr. O. A. Geiseman of Grace Lutheran Church, River Forest, Ill., will speak on "The Relevance of the Reformation Message for Our Day" at Thursday's convocation.

A native of Iowa, Dr. Geiseman attended Concordia College, Milwaukee, and Concordia Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Mo. He received his M. A. from the University of Chicago, his B. D. from Augustana Theological Seminary, Rock Island, Ill., and his S. T. D. from Chicago Lutheran Seminary.

Dr. Geiseman has served as a parish minister in Illinois for

Game? Coffee? Take Your Pick; These And More

By Norm Braatz

Game, coffee, banquet, dance, reception, dedication, church, discussion groups, Artist Series—take your pick. They're all there on the crowded Homecoming program.

This year's Homecoming queen, Sharon Folkerts, who was revealed last evening at Kastle Kapers, will be crowned during halftime ceremonies of today's game. The Wartburg Marching Band will also appear during the halftime ceremonies.

Following today's game, an alumni coffee is scheduled in Knights Gym, beginning at 4. This will be followed by the annual Homecoming Banquet, which will be held at St. Paul's Parish House at 6:30 p.m.

Adix To Talk

Tonight's banquet speaker is the Rev. H. M. Adix, deputy executive secretary of the Board of American Missions of the American Lutheran Church. Pastor Adix served congregations in Farmersburg and Waterloo for 23 years before accepting his present position.

Beginning at 8 p.m. this evening, the Parents Reception will be held in the gym. Parents will also be invited to remain as special guests at the Homecoming Dance, which will begin at 9 in the Gym. Jack Otis' band, Des Moines, will provide music for the dance. Tickets will be available at the door.

Special services at St. Paul's will begin Homecoming Sunday for Wartburg. Dr. Alfred H. Ewald, newly elected president of Wartburg Seminary, Duquesne, will be guest speaker at both the 8 and the 10:45 a.m. services.

Young Speaker

Special speaker for Sunday's Bible Discussion Groups will be Dr. William Young, executive secretary of the Board of Christian Higher Education of the ALC. Discussion groups will be held at St. Paul's Parish House beginning at 9.

Dr. Young will also be the speaker for the dedication of the south wing of Centennial Hall at 2 Sunday afternoon. The dedication will be followed by the Queen's Reception in Centennial Hall lounge at 2:30. Open House will also be held in all housing units on Sunday from 2 to 4:30 p.m.

The last 42 years, 35 at his present position in River Forest. In addition, he has lectured at institutes and conference camps, conducted radio broadcasts, served as a member of the Board of Directors of the Missouri Synod and is at present a member of the National Council on Family Relations.

Dr. Geiseman is associate editor of "The American Lutheran" and is a columnist in "This Day." He has also written "Consuming Love," the life of Adoniram Judson, "Make Yours a Happy Marriage" and extensive volumes of sermons.

While in Waverly, Dr. and Mrs. Geiseman will also visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Schmidt. Mr. Schmidt is a member of Wartburg music faculty.

GETTING THE SHAFT

Schwarz Keeps Busy As Homecoming Head

By Linda Mugridge

So you think that you've been busy. Had many tasks to do before Homecoming? Well, you can be thankful for one thing — unless you are Jim Schwarz, you weren't Homecoming general chairman.

Schwarz, junior from Middleton, Wis., was elected to his position by the Student Body last spring. He says at that time he had a good idea about just what his future job would be. Now, even though he has a better idea, he says that he wouldn't turn back the clock.

Working Since Spring

Schwarz began preparations for this fall's Homecoming last spring when he chose the chairmen of the 15 Homecoming committees. During the summer he worked on the committee functions and carried on various correspondence. Files on Wartburg Homecomings for the past several years were also studied as the 1957 plans incubated during summer vacation.

Since the school year began, Schwarz has attended several different committee meetings each week. Most of his work is organization, and his goal is to see that all jobs are done.

Chairmen Willing

"I was fortunate to get my chairmen," Schwarz said. "Finding persons who were willing to take responsibility in various fields was one of my toughest problems, but I guess that this is a problem in almost every organization."

The bulk of the work is done now. Schwarz compared his feelings to a scene from the movie "The Ten Commandments." A tall, slender shaft of stone was being raised, and doubt about whether it could stand the strain of erection existed. The shaft of stone is the planning and work that Schwarz and the committees have done.

Said Schwarz, "Friday we cut the string and hoped that it would fall into place."

RELAXING from Homecoming duties is general chairman Jim Schwarz.

Kathi Finds Mid-Terms Big Activity

Hi!

I offer thanks to those "various and assorted Trumpet staff members who collaborated to keep this column somewhat intact" during my share of the flu attack last week. I'm beginning to wonder if it was worth recovering . . . Homecoming and mid-semester tests make such a busy pair! (No doubt there are a couple hundred other students who will agree with me!)

Organization-wise, the coming week doesn't have much to offer. In fact, nothing is a better word. After this weekend, there will be nothing to do but study, study, study.

No one needs reminding of the game this afternoon at 2 p.m. No excuses for non-attendance accepted. Likewise, I doubt if I need remind anyone of the Homecoming banquet and dance tonight. The banquet is at St. Paul's Parish House, 6:30 p.m., and the dance at Knights Gym, 9 p.m.

Sunday morning finds the members and alumni of APG at the home of the adviser, Miss Wolff, for their annual Homecoming breakfast. That is from 9-10:30 a.m., and oh so yummy!

Oh, yes, I heard too that Alpha Psi is having a Homecoming breakfast Saturday morning in the fraternity room at 8:30. This year it will be a Hungarian breakfast—something new.

Her Royal Highness, the 1957 Homecoming Queen, will reign over a reception in her honor from 2:30-4 Sunday. It will be in Centennial Hall Lounge.

See you at the dedication Sunday afternoon at 1:45 — remember!

I warned you there wasn't much this week, and as you can see, I was meaning it! Ah, yes, Friday will bring the departure of the Choir members. They will be on tour for two weeks. How about a big gang to see them off? They'll leave from the Fine Arts Center at 4:30 p.m.

Bye!

P.S.—I'll have to swallow my words about there not being anything in the organizational line this week. The American Chemical Society is meeting Monday evening at 7:45. They are having a speaker yet. Dorothy Ager, '55 grad, will speak on her experiences in Germany as a Fulbright scholar in chemistry.

My information says that the meeting will be held at the home of Dr. Swensen, but the word by grapevine is that the place of meeting will be determined by the number in attendance. Regardless, refreshments will be served!

This is really all for now, so I'll try another. . . .

Bye

Three bronze plaques commemorating gifts to the Centennial Hall addition have been placed in the entrance and lounge of the new wing.

Last year's student body project, the equipping of the new lounge, is noted by a plaque in the lounge. Inscribed on the plaque are the words, "This lounge furnished as the Student Body Project, 1956-57."

The $16,000 gift of Albert Olhoeft, Meriden, Minn., has been commemorated by a plaque in the entrance of the addition. Eight rooms that would otherwise have been eliminated in order to keep within budget limits were built with the grant. A large plaque memorializing gifts of $500 or more by other individuals and societies has also been placed in the entrance.

Shots Off

During the flu epidemic many people questioned why Wartburg College students and faculty had not received the flu shots.

The reason was that college students and faculty members had nationally been taken off the priority list for employees of services which are vitally important to the nation, as schools can be closed if necessary.

Are we keeping Tommy from becoming a Doctor?

Tommy doesn't know it—but the way things look now, he may not get that M.D. after his name. And that's too bad for Tommy, and too bad for us: Tommy's a kid who'd make a great doctor.

But Tommy lives in a community where there's a serious shortage of classrooms, teachers and up-to-date schoolbooks. That means Tommy is getting a lot less schooling than he needs.

Let's be sure this doesn't happen to the children in our schools. Join with the other good citizens to back up our School Board, attend PTA meetings and school conferences.

A GOOD PLACE TO WORK

17 Elected For Who's Who

Elected by the Student Body in convocation earlier this year, 17 Wartburg seniors were accepted to the rank of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" this past year.

Those who will shortly receive letters announcing their acceptance are John Adix, Olinda Deines, Frederic Downing, Ann Finnern, Leonard Flachman, Sharon Folkerts, Bruce Friedrich, Kay Fritschel, Valeria Gerlt, Ervin Janssen, Charles Maahs, Ronald Mastin, Nancy Mista, Phil Moeller, David Nelson, Stanley Vogel and Ann von Fischer.

Student Government Represented

Wartburg student government is represented in the group with all three officers being elected. Heading the list are Student Body President John Adix, Denver, Colo., and Vice President Charles Maahs, Tilleda, Wis. The arts-sem course is the curriculum of the two.

Valeria Gerlt, Student Body secretary from Avoca, works in the library in addition to activities in Phebes and Mission Fellowship.

Senior senator Olinda Deines has been active in student government while at Wartburg. Majoring in music education, Miss Deines participates in choir and MENC. From Loveland, Colo., she has served on a Parish Mission Builders team. Another senator and PMBER is Phil Moeller from Dayton, Ohio. Participating in track and cross-country, he is a member of "W" Club. He is also the president of the Big Brother-Sister program.

Musicians Have Three

Also pursuing the music education course are Sharon Folkerts, Ronald Mastin and Ann von Fischer. Homecoming Queen Sharon was an attendant last year. Calling Manson home, she is one of the choir soloists in addition to being Dr. Edwin Liemohn's secretary.

President of the local chapter of the Music Education National Conference, Mastin comes from Chippewa Falls, Wis. Another of the choir soloists and member of the boys quartet, he is president of choir. Senior commencement chairman from Springfield, Minn., Miss von Fischer is also active in choir and MENC.

Majoring in mathematics, Nancy Mista plans to become a high school teacher. Coming from Monona, Miss Mista, who has been especially active in athletics, was last year's president of the Wartburg Women's Athletic Association. This year she is class treasurer. Also taking a secondary education course, Kay Fritschel is president of both SEA and Young Republicans. Her home is in Merville.

Pi Beta Epsilon president Bruce Friedrich, Clinton, Okla., has been KWAR station manager the past two years. Majoring in chemistry, he is a liberal arts student. Stanley Vogel, another liberal arts student, is from Phillipsburg, Kan. Having been on the varsity tennis team, he is a member of "W" Club.

Downing Chi Rho Head

Arts-sem student Frederic Downing lives in Waverly. This year he heads Chi Rho. Castle Singers president, Dave Nelson, is also enrolled in the arts-sem course. Coming from Rantoul, Ill., he is a member of the men's quartet here. Fortress editor, Leonard Flachman, following the arts-sem course, is from West Burlington. He holds membership in Alpha Phi Gamma, national honorary journalism fraternity.

Pre-medical student Erwin Janssen of Deshler, Neb., is president of the American Chemical Society and a member of Tri-Beta. Last year he was president of Groesmann Hall.

From Round Lake, Minn., Women's Co-ordinating Board president Ann Finnern is an elementary education major. In addition she is secretary of the Wartburg chapter of the Student Education Association and was president of Pi Sigma. women's social group, last year. This past summer she was a member of a PMB team.

Dubuque Here Today As Knights Seek Fifth Win

Injuries Hit Jomen Hard

By Wilbur Flachman
It's the big Homecoming game this afternoon, and the Wartburg Knights will be out to show the folks what makes a winner click.

Knights, winners of four out of their first five games, will tangle with the University of Dubuque Spartans, in an Iowa Conference battle this afternoon.

Coach Norm Johansen's crew has lost only to Upper Iowa this season in running well ahead of pre-season predictions. Dubuque is near the cellar in loop standings. The Spartans have suffered four defeats, while tying Parsons 0-0 for a 0-4-1 record.

Raper Missing

Johansen, still pestered with injuries to key players, will be without the services of regular fullback Larry Raper this afternoon. The 195-pound soph from Fontanelle injured a knee in last week's tilt at Iowa Wesleyan, and it has failed to respond to treatment. Raper has been the leading ground-gainer for the Knights, averaging better than five yards per carry.

Outstanding guard Arnie Brandt has been missing from practice all week. The fiery co-captain has been in bed with the flu and is a doubtful starter. Starting center Leon Knitt has been hobbled all week with an ankle injury, but will be ready for some action.

Ott, Jensen Ready

Ready to go this afternoon, though, will be freshman standouts Marv Ott and Dave Jensen. Ott, out five weeks with a broken bone in his leg, will be ready for some quarterback duty today. Jensen, forced to watch from the sidelines for a couple of weeks with a cracked elbow, will get Johansen's nod at a starting left halfback position today.

Court Drills Open Nov. 1

If you are over six feet five inches tall and have two legs and two arms, this should concern you.

Ax Bundgaard, head basketball coach, has issued the call for the first official Wartburg basketball practice, Nov. 1.

Several of the cagers have been working out on their own since school opened this fall.

Bundgaard has seven returning lettermen plus several promising sophomores moving up from last year's frosh squad. Back from the Knight squad that finished second in the Iowa Conference and competed in the NCAA tourney at Denver are seniors John Adix, Denver, Colo.; Fred Jaspers, Kensett; and Mel Frahm, Davenport. Junior lettermen are Denny Wessels, Independence; Gil Wessel, Waverly; and Wayne Slack, Waterloo. Lone soph numeral winner last season is six-foot six-inch John Tuecke from Garnavillo.

Wartburg Flu-Stricken, But Beats Wesleyan 14-7

By Wilbur Flachman

The flu bug brought a lot of things to a standstill last week, but it didn't completely stop the Wartburg Knights. Coach Norm Johansen's youthful gridders whipped a determined Iowa Wesleyan team 14-7 last Saturday to remain in contention for the Iowa Conference crown.

The Jomen's record is now 3-1 in loop action and 4-1 for the season. Wesleyan Tigers, playing their best game of the season before a host of Homecoming boosters, dropped their fifth contest in as many games.

Score In Three

Knights lowered the boom in the opening three minutes by marching 70 yards to score. Freshman halfback Tom Van Wyngarten, subbing for injured Dave Jensen, was the big gun in the first series of plays, sweeping the ends for gains of 21 and 17 yards. Larry Raper, Knights' hard-running fullback, cut the middle of the Wesleyan line for 11 yards, and then bulled his way into the Tiger end zone from the one. Denny Krominga converted and the Jomen were up 7-0.

Three more times Wartburg drew within eight yards of the double chalks but couldn't tote the pigskin across. Finally, frosh quarterback Leroy Bosnieler hit halfback Chuck Nichol with a nifty 31-yard aerial that ended up in over-the-goal line. Krominga's point after split the stilts for 14-0 and all Wesleyan had to cheer at half-time was the queen.

Tigers Finally Score

The pigskin was confined pretty much to the center of the playing field the second half until Tiger guard Ardean Williams nabbed a fumble in mid-air and raced to the Wartburg eight with nine minutes left in the game. Ernie Beenblossom went over for the TD on his third plunge, and Harold Huff bootied the point to make the scoreboard read 14-7.

Cotta Sinks North Hall

This week the Cotta House Homecoming held the spotlight. Cotta sank North Hall 41-0.

Because of the weather other intramural games were not held this week.

In bowling, though, it was Walter Voecks having high game with a 223, a record for the year. Jim Boyenga ran a close second with a 220. Mel Frahm rolled a 539 to hold high series. Dave Jensen has a 560 for the high series of the season.

Lyle Wilharm's team is still leading the league with a 16-4 record.

Picking Up Splinters

By Wilbur Flachman

You alumni will find yourselves in a different environment when you go out to watch Norm Johansen's 1957 football squad play this afternoon.

You won't have the usual trek to the Waverly Municipal Field. Grads can boost (or boast) the Wartburg loyalty from a brand-new stadium right here on campus.

Fans this year will have more to get excited about than the customary crowning of the Homecoming queen at halftime. On the gridiron you will see a young and spirited bunch of boys that sports writers have tabbed as the surprise of the year in the Iowa Conference. You will see a coaching staff that has developed these boys and instilled in them the drive to win four out of their last five ball games, a feat accomplished only once by a Knight grid team since 1949.

This team has fought back after several crippling injuries to key players, and now is in a challenging position for the conference title. First, it was regular guard Don Sahling, out with a shattered bone in his thumb. Then freshman quarterback Marv Ott with a broken bone in his leg and frosh halfback Dave Jensen with a cracked arm.

Now leading ground-gainer Larry Raper is temporarily hobbled with a wrenched knee. But the Knights have lost only at Upper Iowa this fall in five outings, a remarkable comeback from last year's winless nightmare.

Also you'll see a University of Dubuque team that has been notorious at spoiling Homecomings the past few years. As former Wartburgers you have an opportunity to join the 1957 Student Body in pouring forth the spirit to support Norm Johansen and his boys as they face another stiff test today.

A National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame Week will be observed by colleges and universities throughout the United States Nov. 11-16.

Purpose is being fulfilled in erection of a shrine to honor colorful pigskin performers of the past and future. It is to be built on the Rutgers University campus in New Brunswick, N. J., where Rutgers and Princeton played the first intercollegiate football game 88 years ago.

Take note of the play of Darwin Fritz and Les Huth at the ends this afternoon. Each was shifted from the fullback position at the start of the season and has adapted very well. Along with sophs John Klaut and Larry Nieman and freshman Wayne Dreier, they form a powerful quintet for Jo.

Bundgaard

Ax Bundgaard, Wartburg's busy athletic director, was recently named the lone candidate for secretary-treasurer of the 45th district of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, a position which he now holds.

Ken Starck, Wartburg News Bureau director and former Trumpet editor, is sports publicity director for the NAIA in this district.

Homecoming fans are certainly missing out on a colorful treat this afternoon because the U. of Dubuque canceled the cross-country meet. Coach Bob Campbell's "leatherlungs" were set to give the fans a good look at Wartburg's eighth major sport between halves of the football battle.
